Artists who champion good causes

Caroline Pedler is an illustrator and creative based in Cornwall. In 2009 she did an MA in illustration-authorial practice at Falmouth University. This program renewed her passion for illustration and creative practices, while also inspiring her academic career as a tutor and lecturer in higher education. Caroline has had a wonderful career, illustrating over 50 picture books, which have been translated into 27 languages in just as many countries. She has also exhibited around the UK and abroad, most recently in Italy, China, and the United Emirates. Caroline also recently won the professional picture book award for the CICLA Original Illustration Exhibition in China in 2020.

Artists who champion good causes. We work with major progressive brands to communicate their message and align our mutual values by connecting them with diverse, genuine and individual talent.
