

Individual Diverse Global Distinct
Artists who champion good causes

Monique Steele is a Jamaican-born illustrator currently residing in the small pocket of reality in-between time and space. A digital artist, her work normally consists of bright colors, and strong line work and features subjects such as empowered women in history, fun adventures, and magic. When she's not drawing famous Queens in history or women in elaborate gowns you can find her deeply mired in the comings and goings of pop culture, exploring mystical new worlds in literature, and lamenting no longer living the "island girl" lifestyle while (still) attempting to refine her spicy foods palette.

monique steele

Artists who champion good causes. We work with major progressive brands to communicate their message and align our mutual values by connecting them with diverse, genuine and individual talent.